

The Chicago Daily Tribune.

CHICAGO, FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1875.

VOLUME 28.

NUMBER 270.

CARRIAGES AND ROAD WAGONS STRANGERS And CITIZENS.

We have now on hand, at our new ware-rooms, 152, 153 and 157 WABASH-AY., the largest and most complete collection of exquisitely finished and substantially-constructed carriages and road wagons in the city. All of our work is done in American style. On all of our work we shall guarantee that every job is performed in the most dependable manner, and that the latest approved modes of construction are preferred. WABASH-AY., between 152 and 157.
For information concerning our carriages and road wagons, we extend a special invitation to call and examine goods for themselves.

We have in stock for the season, the following types of carriages:

CARRIAGES. GLASS LANDAUS, Beautifully trimmed and splendidly finished.

LANDAULETS, With movable tops and every improvement.

PARK PHAETONS,

BRETT'S, COUPES, Of greatest and exquisite designs.

COUPELETS, Unparalleled in elegance.

T CARTS,

TOP BUGGIES,

ROAD WAGONS,

CONCORD BUGGIES,

BEACH AND HUNTING WAGONS,

COAN & TEN BROEK

CARRIAGE MANUF'G CO.

G. O. THE BROEK, AGENT.

WAREHOUSE—No. 183, 185, 187 Wabash-ay.

MANUFACTORY—Cor. Am. & Randolph-ay.

CHICAGO.

REAL ESTATE.

Rich Farming Lands!

FOR SALE VERY CHEAP BY THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

NOW IS THE TIME

Transcript in the Great Central Dept. of Peop- les and Wealth on the line of the World's Highway.

8,000,000 ACRES

EASTERN NEBRASKA.

IN THE GARDEN OF THE WEST

FULL INFORMATION is now to hand, prices, terms, etc., together with pamphlets, circulars, and maps, may be obtained from all the Agents of the Department.

THE PIONEER.

A handsom Illustrated Paper, with Map, etc., and com- plete Digest of the Houghton Law. Mailed to O. F. DAVIS, Land Commissioner U. S. R. E., Omaha, Neb.

NORTH SIDE RESIDENCES

For Sale or Rent, Cheap.

W. D. KERFORD & CO.

85 East Washington-ay.

FINANCIAL.

Loans on Real Estate.

We are prepared to make loans on good property in Chicago and well-established suburbs, in sums to suit (about $2,000), for a term of years, at current rates.

RAIRD & BRADLEY,

50 LaSalle-ay.

LODGE AT AUCTION.

At the time of sale, the building will be fully equipped and ready for occupancy.

W. D. KERFORD & CO., Auctioneers.

BUTTERS & CO.,

Attorneys at Law.

DUNSTON & CHICAGO.

In Old Market.

THE NORTHWEST.

O-DAY.

MORNING, at 9 o'clock.

Logistics Trade Sale of

1 Fancy Dry Goods,

100 Market-ay.

200 SATURDAY'S SALE,

AT 9 O'CLOCK A. M.

2 CARS & PIANOS,

SEHOLD GOODS, Etc. Etc.

2 BUTTERS & CO., Auctioneers.

KINS, BRUSH & CO.,

and 50 LaSalle-ay.

ACTORY AT AUCTION.

At the time of sale, the building will be fully equipped and ready for occupancy.

R. B. BURR & CO., Auctioneers.

COLLECTION AGENCY.

DIG.

We have every facility and method known for digging out debts, and in this way we can get the best results.

JOHN A. MILLER,

Corner State and Monroe-ay.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHEAT AT

DESKS

LUDWIG'S,

100 Market-ay.

New Madison.

Information Wanted

From the expressman who took 3 barrels from South Carolina, and 1 barrel from New York, and left the city of New York, and did not pay his bill.

HENRY E. MILLER,

County Treasurer of Cook County, Ill.

REMOVALS.

W. J. BARNEY,

Local Agent for 27 Palms, San Jose, Calif., and Chambers & Co., Auctioneers.

INTANT PAINTINGS

Paintings of every kind.

EXCELSIOR SALES

May 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29.

PARASOLS! Parasols! Parasols!

LEADING MANUFACTURERS. REPRESENTATIVE American Manufacturers,

AND DEALERS IN ARTISTIC & FINE GOODS,

FOR PERSONAL AND HOUSEHOLD USE.

ART-WORKERS IN SILVER,

TIFFANY & CO.,

Union Square, New York.

SEW MANUFACTURERS,

CHENEY BROTHERS,

Harford and New York.

PURE WHITE LEAD (ATLANTIC),

ROBERT COLGATE & CO.,

Cook Pearl and Beckman-ay, New York.

ARTISTIC JEWELERS,

TIFFANY & CO.,

Union Square, New York.

WATCHES,

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY,

Waltham (Mass.) and New York.

MASONIC AND MILITARY GOODS,

SCHUYLER, HARTRAY & GRAHAM,

19 Maiden Lane, New York.

MILVER-PLATEDWARE,

MERIDEN BRITANNIA CO.,

550 Broadway, New York.

WORKERS IN HARDWOOD LUMBER AND

VENeerS,

GEORGE W. READ & CO.,

186 to 200 Lewis-ay, Foot of Sixth-ay, East River, New York.

TRUNKS AND TRAVELING-BAGS,

CRUCH & FITZGERALD,

1 Maiden Lane and 556 Broadway, N.Y.

EUROPEAN TRAVEL,

WHITE STAR LINE (BALTIMORE) SAILS ON SAT-

URDAY, MAY 22, AT 3 P. M.

190 Broadway, New York.

PACKAGES AND VALUABLES BY EX-

PRESS TO EUROPE, CALIFORNIA, AND

THE TERRITORIES,

WILLIS, FARLOW & CO.,

65 Broadway, New York.

FANS, HAT SASHES, &c.

FIELD, LEITER & CO.

STATE & WASHINGTON-ST.

Have added to their stock of

FANS,

From new importations several novelties in Paris and Ivory Inlaid Sticks, plain and painted, and with marabou.

Great variety in shades of Double

Twisted Sérge, also in French Scarfs, in two color combinations, together with full lines of Twisted Ribbons,

by the yard, for Hat Trimmings.

HAT SASHES,

TIFFANY & CO.,

Union Square, New York.

CARPETS,

W. J. SLOANE,

649 to 655 Broadway, New York.

UPHOLSTERY GOODS AND LACE CUR-

TAINS,

NICOL, COWLISSHAW & CO.,

745 Broadway, New York.

CLOTHING,

BROOKS BROTHERS,

Broadway and Bond-ay, New York.

FINE WATCHES,

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.
Bills, 1 year.....$12.00	Weeks, 1 year.....$1.50
6.00	Five copies.....1.00
25.00	100 copies.....1.00
double sheet.....3.00

WALTER—Over at the same place.

WALTER—Over at the same place.

Special arrangements made with WALTER.

Specimens copies sent free.

To prevent delay and mistake, be sure and give Post Office address, name of town and country.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, Post Office orders or registered letters, at our risk.

TERMS TO CITE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Daily, 1 year.....25 cents per week.

Weekly, 1 year.....$1.00

Monthly, 1 year.....$3.00

Bi-monthly, 1 year.....$6.00

Quarterly, 1 year.....$12.00

Specimens copies sent free.

To prevent delay and mistake, be sure and give Post Office address, name of town and country.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, Post Office orders or registered letters, at our risk.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS.

MOLLEY'S THEATRE—Randolph street, between Clark and Cassella. Emerson's Minstrels.

MYKLEBUST'S THEATRE—Madison street, between Dearborn and State. Engagements of Charles Peacock.

Samson.

ADELPHI THEATRE—Dearborn street, corner Monroe. Variety Entertainment.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—Halsted street, between Madison and Monroe. Engagement of the Fox Pantomime troupe. "Humpy Dumpty."

SOCIETY MEETINGS.

ORIGINAL LODGE, No. 32, F. & A. M.—Stated Committee important to every member, and work on the project will be suspended until the Lodge is reorganized.

DETROIT, May 20.—The Lodge of the Eastern Star, No. 100, held its annual meeting yesterday evening.

DRYDEN LODGE, No. 202, F. & A. M.—Masons' Committee (this Friday) evening. Masonic Hall, Dearborn. Work on M. M. Tamm's Victoria theatre delayed.

WILLIAM V. M.—

BUSINESS NOTICES.

FROM BUDING GIRLFRIEND TO WOMANLY.

Maternal, and ever for the welfare of life, a pure and noble companion may be present in the regular course of nature. Let us all be kind to Youth. Sold by all druggists and fancy goods dealers.

The Chicago Tribune.

Friday Morning, May 21, 1875.

The Centennial of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence was very generally and heartily celebrated yesterday in the principal cities of the South.

The eighty-seventh General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States began its sessions yesterday in Cleveland, with an attendance of 440 delegates. The day was devoted to organization.

Three new arrests were made in Chicago yesterday in connection with the whisky trade. The parties apprehended are Storekeepers, who are charged with such a neglect of duty as to afford an opportunity to defraud the Government.

The Indian expedition to Washington threatens to be a failure. The Chiefs are dissatisfied with their interpreters, and are suspicious and bad-tempered generally. They quarreled among themselves while at Omaha, and are divided as to what they want to do in the Black Hills matter.

Secretary Browne has been soothed by President GRANT to await a personal conference on the subject before taking further action in reference to the removal of Supervisor Munro, in whose behalf strong efforts are put forth, on the ground that no charges whatever are preferred against him.

Among the announcements of exercises to take place at the commencement of the Garrett Biblical Institute next week we find the following: "Wednesday, May 26, 3 p.m., Christian Journalism. The Rev. Azaria Edwards, D. D., editor Northeastern Christians Advocate." Is this meant to be in earnest? Or is the announcement a misprint?

Another demand for protection will possibly come from Pennsylvania. A Chicago firm has been awarded the contract for designing and building an iron bridge over the Monongahela River at Pittsburg. Don't Pennsylvania want protection from the West? Is the iron work of Pittsburg to be done hereafter in Chicago? Was it for this that Nature deposited coal and iron in Pennsylvania? Did Congress so legislate to protect the labor of Pittsburg that Chicago can go in and build iron bridges for that city?

A sickening batch of scandal comes from Indianapolis, where affidavits have been filed and published, charging the grossness of villainy upon the Superintendent of the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, who has held the position for eighteen years, and who is also a Presbyterian minister. The affidavits allege the seduction of several young women, pupils of the institution, by the Superintendent and a former male teacher; but the story is disbelieved by the best people of Indianapolis, and libel suits have been brought against the authors and publishers of the affidavits. Scandalous reports are also current concerning a Justice of the Supreme Court and a Campbellite minister.

There are at this time two parties in the grain market—one based in a short crop and high-priced grain, and the other in a large crop and low-priced grain. There are important facts having a bearing on this question, but what the exact state of the facts is, is somewhat obscure. We publish all the news coming to us, without reference to the bearing it may have on either side of this question: Tax Turners have no other interest in the matter than to publish information. It is ridiculous, therefore, to allege that Tax Turners are exaggerating the grasshopper stories, or underrating the probabilities of a short crop.

The Odd-Fellows of Indiana have taken a stand for temperance which is both practical and effectual. The Grand Lodge of the State yesterday sustained the action of a subordinate lodge in suspending a member's connection with the Order on the ground that he was a saloon-keeper. This action, by a powerful secret society, is significant and praiseworthy, for it irritates the fraternality in Indiana to add to their many bright jewels that of Consistency. To practice what is preached is itself a virtue scarcely less essential than those of Faith, Love, and Truth. Oddly enough, it was "Bourbon Lodge No. 209" that ejected the saloon-keeper.

The Chicago produce market was steadier yesterday. Most wheat was moderately active, and declined 30¢ per bushel, closing firm at $20.65 for June, and $21.00 for July. Barley was less active, and declined 15¢ per 100 lbs, closing steady at $1.75 each, and $1.975@15.00 for July. Meats were quiet and easier at 5¢ for shoulder, 11¢ for short ribs, and 11¢ for short cleats. Highwines were moderately easier at $1.17 per gallon. Lake freights were in better demand and easier at 5¢ for corn to Buffalo. Flour was quiet and tame. Wheat was active and easier, but closed firm at $1.00 each, and $1.03 for flour. Corn was in fair demand, and declined 5¢, but closed strong at 63¢ cash, and 65¢ for June. Oats were quiet and unchanged, closing at 62¢ for June, and 45¢ for July. Rice was dull, quiet, and stronger, closing at $1.05. Barley was quiet and stronger, closing at $1.40 for May, and $1.10 for September. Hogs were fairly active at 10¢@15¢ decline. Sales mostly at $7.25@7.50. Cattle were in good demand and firm. Sales at $2.50@6.00. Sheep were in light supply. Prices were firm.

Boston stands aghast at the depravity of human nature as illustrated by the sudden discovery of baseness and crime on the part of a citizen who for many years had been trusted and respected as men seldom are in these degenerate times. Mr. ASHMAN JACKSON, a prominent lawyer and business man, has enjoyed this unusual degree of confidence at the hands of his friends and neighbors, who have intrusted to him the loaning of their money, the control of their property, and the management of their business affairs. The constant pressure of opportunity for dishonesty proved at last too strong to be resisted, and Mr. JACKSON fell, dragging with him the small fortunes of many who placed their all in his keeping. Now that JACKSON has abandoned, there has developed a system of systematic villainy, concealed for several years, which seriously shakes one's faith in Judge FOOTE's theory that a lifetime of Christian conduct is conclusive proof of superiority over temptation and fraud. Many people in Boston still have faith in JACKSON's integrity, but, as may be readily supposed, they are people who have not suffered by his dishonesty.

In summing up for the defense in the Jackson case, Judge FOXON continues his savage and abusive attacks upon the witness who gave the most damaging testimony for the plaintiff. The evident design is to make the fight squarely on the issue of comparative credibility, and if the defense only succeed in convincing the jury that JACKSON, Moulton, Bowen, RICHARDS, MARTIN, etc., are the abiding wrecks that FOOTE paints them, the line of policy, though questionable in point of taste, will have the merit of at least partial success. But how about the great jury of public opinion? Will WILL FOOTE's diatribes carry conviction there? The eighty-seventh General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States began its sessions yesterday in Cleveland, with an attendance of 440 delegates. The day was devoted to organization.

Three new arrests were made in Chicago yesterday in connection with the whisky trade. The parties apprehended are Storekeepers, who are charged with such a neglect of duty as to afford an opportunity to defraud the Government.

We refer to this case with no purpose of grieving the friend of the lady or pandering to curiosity, but simply to explain that in all the painful proceedings Mrs. LINCOLN was treated in the kindest and gentlest manner by her own personal friends, and that from the beginning to the end she maintained her dignity and character as a lady. For several years after the assassination of her husband, Mrs. LINCOLN was pursued by a mental picture of the dreadful scene. She could not shake it off. She courted solitude, denied herself to all visitors and friends, and became a victim to hysteria, accompanied by various apprehensions, of which destitution, poverty, and absolute want were the more violent. A gentleman of this city, one of the warmest personal friends of her husband, succeeded in obtaining an interview, and these free access to her at all times. During a period of more than a year, during which he visited her mainly at her special request, she never failed to begin the interview with a minute detail of the events of that fatal Friday on which her husband was murdered. This same story was repeated at every interview, and almost in the exact words each time. It had engrossed her mind to the exclusion of all other things past and present, except the gloomy apprehension that she was reduced to want. At last, he proposed that she leave the hotel, and buy a house, furnish it, and receive friends, and have some care to divert her mind. She at last consented, and he stated that during the few months in which the house was purchased, and she was engaged in furnishing it, and then had active employment, she was comparatively happy, and had shaken off all the old gloom, despondency, and terror. Acting under these combined influences, she did many things which were surprising, if not painful, to her friends. She had an aversion for companionship and acquaintance; she shied all means of social approach; she lived within the seclusion of her room, suffering and enduring the ever present horror of the one terrible event. At times she would grow restless, and suddenly change her residence; but wherever she went the relief was temporary, the relapse inevitable. Under this intense strain, her mind gradually became unbalanced, and year after year she has required more and more the vigilant care of her friends.

Her condition, and what was to be done for her, have been long and carefully considered, and her mental weakness and eccentricities during the last few months become so alarming that some preventive action became necessary. She had among other things been possessed of the idea that Chicago was on fire, and she had withdrawn the bonds and other securities in which her funds were invested from the vaults of the Fidelity Deposit Company, and carried them on her person, fearing them prepared for instant flight. There was reason to apprehend that in her restlessness, troubled state of mind she might receive personal injury, and at last, when longer delay would really be cruel and neglect of duty, her son was compelled to the painful proceeding which, under the laws of this State, must proceed by detention or restraint for insanity. All the old personal friends of Mr. LINCOLN were consulted. The Hon. ISAAC N. ARNOLD was appointed her counsel. The Hon. LOWELL SWARZ assumed the even more delicate task of representing the Sheriff and executing the process of the Court. It is noted by those to say that the duty of arresting her, of conveying her to the court-room, of committing her to the sheriff, and to the court of law, was less active, and declined 15¢ per 100 lbs, closing steady at $1.75 each, and $1.975@15.00 for July. Meats were quiet and easier at 5¢ for shoulder, 11¢ for short ribs, and 11¢ for short cleats. Highwines were moderately easier at $1.17 per gallon. Lake freights were in better demand and easier at 5¢ for corn to Buffalo. Flour was quiet and tame. Wheat was active and easier, but closed firm at $1.00 each, and $1.03 for flour. Corn was in fair demand, and declined her arrest by Mr. SWARZ, and the subsequent arrangements for her departure to the place of detention. It is sufficient to say that throughout the trying scenes she was keenly sensitive, was fully conscious of her position, and skillful in her means to evade the execution of the judgment; but there was no violence, no "dumidation," no reproaches. Throughout the whole business she displayed the amiability of a cultivated lady.

We close this brief explanation of the causes leading to this proceeding, and of the circumstances attending it, by repeating that it had long been foreseen, by her intimate, that it was postponed as long as affectionate regard could do so with safety to herself, and that the result will satisfactorily explain to all many things in the past which were as painful and distressing to her friends and the friends of her husband as they were displayed throughout the whole business she displayed.

For sublimity and dimensions of cheek commanded us to these simple, untrained children of the forest, who have been brought up under the sweet and genial influences of Nature, and have never been contaminated with the habits of cities or empires of luxury. There is a freedom and directness of speech about them which was refreshing, and there are some people who will be churchish enough to say that the Indians were right, and hit the nail on the head every time. It is at least the first time that the management of Indian affairs has been struck square in the face, and for this, at least, the Indians deserve credit. Back of all their laudable swaggers and impudence there was some plain, hard truth, which was spoken where it ought to have some effect.

PRAYERS AND OPTIONS.

There is a story told of a French priest, in a province that had been visited with a long drought, who assembled his parish and devoted several hours to fervent prayer for rain. The prayers were so efficacious that the rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following: On Change concerning the growing gossips. The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

On Change concerning the growing gossips.

The rain came down in torrents before the services were concluded. As the priest had forgotten to bring his umbrella with him, he retired to his closet, while the congregation were returning thanks and prayed for a temporary suspension of the rain until he could reach home, which was not so successful. We are reminded of the story by the following:

ing climax to the career of the man in whose interest it was on Register remarks: "Probably lived that could drive Grant. Own up when you're beaten!"

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Canal Investigating Committee to begin with. The numbers unbalanced contracts again, so system worked.

Sam H. Paxton has delivered papers as a dinner-giver; and managers begin to think that he would be President as Rutherford B. Hayes of the Norfolk Virginians avow in Gen. SHERMAN's memoirs to his author was a brilliant villain. Of the compliment will depend the emphasis.

The Opposition Party in Iowa are at the State Convention to see if it appears that they are to be purely Democratic and to be Liberally-Democratic.

Agents of the Interior Department some respect for the unnamed Mr. Clow's interview with the not so hard to be called a Bar white race is included in the cat-

Georgian, says that secession but no crime; while revolution no mistake. This is a specimen signed oratory that we may expect greater or less abundance when

Ploughman would like to have "the Chicago Evening Post" when the next bloody-mim." He would be apt to make a cheerful reading by contract "factions and light-hearted

California. Senator Sargent's takes this early action to any re-declaration of a rebellion violated without injustice if any regard the situation to be this: all not run if he sees no necessity elected.

Jury in Iowa which acquitted day was composed of six Democrats. Every one of them appeals to his sympathies which counsel made. It is a question, a nicely-balanced political juries on the old st. la.

A paper, which perhaps intends to be the Franklin, its correspondence echo the political "re-representatives." The New York newspaper which has had a policy outside of the publication of the news.

But of retaliation the Republicans managed to put up in the case of FRANKLIN, etc.

The First Congressional Districted about it. The baptismal "Jesu" Jesus appears in the will of Barrington, Jan. 23, 1852.

Exhibition have been freely after-MARSHALIST, but easily removed recently, for any one to sacrifice business capacity. This has correspondents of the Baltimore reports the rumor that Mr. Bremptaining a newspaper in New one of the Alabama legislators led SHERMAN into his seat in the Senate, and who was rewarded for the Post-Office at Union Springs, a prison on a charge of pilfering. A Southern newspaper sardonically the Marshal who arrested men who convicted him, and the denied him, were bandits; and Gouvernement ought to lose no on a pardon.

was very much affected that Mr. WILSON was not triv- for political effect, however, or was engaged in a political movement of his son. But the boy Mr. WILSON along his journeymen easily happens to take in Texas is very much like the people go home from singing on a larger scale."

Mr. CORCORAN, one of the Washington Chronicle and Clark States Circuit Courts of Iowa, in an interview at Mt. Pleasant, IOWA, made great sacrifices Presidency, that he desires a and that he can easily carry the to the Senatorial question in Corcoran said that HANAN position if he could get it with the Democratic party. He will not be a candidate. These from such sources are of no value. We are surprised to see prominence in the columns of discriminating journals.

PERSONAL.
Four played to a $3,277 house at next's father is 87 years old and "Nashy" editions are about to begin.

to be interviewed in Boston, I cheered."

is an inmate of the Sanford Asylum, near Flushing, Long hinks the new spring matress, West on Earth" in design ex-

-up-meetings.

The Hartford base-ball nine is number of clergymen who have the ball-ground.

BRADLEY, daughter of Chief Justice Michigan, starts from Battle Creek Monday morning.

LAW is the suggestive name obtained English curate. He has passed death, if any.

of the children sent the R.R. have turned out hardly anything among the young.

He was asked to discuss the Rev. Coxon, the medium, a man in Boston is not medium.

It is in public. His wife the Duchess of the church, and the founders of the church have

The Paris American, Bayley, has visiting New York widow. It is her name will be found in the necrologies abroad.

It's wicked to write novels, we say. They didn't have any before. It's wicked for LUCY—Detroit Free Press.

It has given Lady Eliza $10,000 a civil list. In this civility of Majesty initiates the early a lady who flings herself to be dressed like a person with a big turban and bony India Town. He can stand for the other fancies of fashion.

and studying the customs, and we in the bay as a last resort of extinct replies." It is the key likewise to some modern ones whose tears have been shed in Brooklyn lately.

The Rev. Mr. VARNET, of Haberham-Eaves, England, has given it out as gospel that ARTHUR OXFORD is Robert TICHBORN, from which and premises it may be deduced that remarks of VARNET are now unreliable.

That was a very shameless proceeding on the part of the Rev. NEVIL WOODWARD, or the Associated Press Agent of New York fails to appreciate the elasticity of language.

Literary women in Nevada also take a hand in business. Miss CLAP and BARBOUR, Principals of the Sierra Miners, have taken a contract to furnish iron fencing for Capitol Square, at Carson, for $5,000 in gold.

They play it unkindly poor Col. SELLS sometimes, by selling his parrot apples and making him sit in turnips. His juries sometimes sit for higher wages, and refuse to hear the case unless paid in advance.

Minister DURRANCE has ordered the priests of France to sing every Sunday in Church: "Divine Salmos" "No Repentance" "God save the Republic." It goes against the engineer who was sent to jail for six months. When the locomotive was within a few feet of her the engineer saw that she was very pale, and the next instant was horror-stricken to see her spring directly in front of the engine.

NOVEL ARRIVALS.

Gov. POWELL, of Mississippi, was foreman of a Grand Jury recently which found an unusually large number of trial bills for larceny. After adjournment, Mr. Powell found that one member had introduced four trial bills to the grand jury in his pocket-book.

An old lady, sitting from the Rochester depot, New York, for Chicago, said to her daughter: "It isn't likely I'll ever see you again. I'm getting so old." A moment later the train stopped, and the mother, leaning from the window, saw a locomotive dash over her daughter and mangle her to a jelly.

That sagacious Board of Trade man who bought the material in Canada for $5, and paid $45 for making his clothes to a Chicago tailor, now wishes he hadn't, as the bumbo-slavers are perpetually recognizing an old friend in him, shaking hands with him, and repeating the old old story of the Havana lottery.

London theatrical audiences, while they are not unmindful of the amusement they receive from good plays, do not hesitate to express their disapproval of even from popular authors. Mr. W. S. GILBERT's "Tom Cobb" was trusted to "brief but distinct expressions of disapproval" on its first representation.

On the walls of his cabin in Pompeii was painted a picture of a fire, cooked his ham, and sweetened his bacon 25,000 years to this day, and he refused to take me to the circus!" If Baucus had known it at the time, he could have put his "editorial compliments" to a good use.

The announcement that Prof. BAUDRIT has discovered nine hitherto unknown portions of the oldest extant portions of the New Testament will be received by different persons with different emotions. Perhaps the model Sunday-school boy will hear of it with profound dismay as an unwelcome addition to his studies.

Ex-Brother JOE HOWARD still accuses Dr. RICHARD S. STORRS of jealousy of BEECHER, and hits the pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims a terrible blow by declaring that Dr. Storrs' prayer-meeting is not as big as BEECHER's. Perhaps, however, if Dr. Storrs was on trial for adultery the case would be different.—New York Sun.

It now appears that JAMES LUX, the millionaire, has protected his fortune from dissipation by neglecting to pay his creditors. Dr. ZELLA, his physician, has attended him twenty years without receiving a penny, and now sums up $25,000 worth of padding done on the man old excesses.

On the 2d of June the Kentucky Press Association will meet at Louisville, and the Courier-Journal heads a movement on foot to nominate LARKE, of the Louisville News, from appearing in a clean shirt, and thus establishing edious comparisons between himself and his brother editors.

The true inwards of white-suited Mr. ANTON REED, of Buena Vista, Ky., becoming too apparent. Mr. Reed kindly handed himself, and a prominent citizen of the town" need fear no suit for $100,000—a five-month trial, no threatened aspacy. All is grace, mercy, and peace.

Unkind suggestions have been made as to the worthlessness of MULLER's head as a wager, but it seems to our architects that the part between the eye and chin know as the cheek might be profitably used as foundation-stones for the Clinton-House. It wouldn't, post, eat, and, etc., etc.

The Chicago Inter-Oceans thinks that Mr. BROWN's testimony is in the main unimpeachable. The editor of the Inter-Oceans is a victim of the vicious practice, that prevailed during his youth, of punishing boys by standing them on their heads. He was born with a legal mind, but didn't have a chance to develop it.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Vice-President HENRY WILSON is said to have met his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

SARAH BRACKEN, aged 56 years, was sentenced by two magistrates of Frome, England. Major WICKHAM and GEORGE WOOD-SHEPPARD, to four days' imprisonment on the suspicion that a half-penny coin had been found in her possession.

The St. Louis Republican reads the Louisville Journal a lesson because it uses the word run-bouts for that good, old-fashioned word runabout. But doesn't the Republic know that Louisville editors must have "run" in nearly everything they use? It's all in the bringing up.—Louisville Herald.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story is touching and touching even for fiction.

Mr. BROWN, after his expulsion, has written to his old friend, Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS, on the streets of Memphis, and report says they wandered hand-in-hand into an ice-cream saloon, and there, over strawberries and ice, recalled the tender recollections of the past. Report probably lies, but the story

THE CITY.

GENERAL NEWS.

A boy named Charles Smith, 15 years old, is missing from his home, and his parents are making anxious inquiries about him.

Mr. Cole's suit for false imprisonment was not against the city, but Sergeant Michael O'Connor. The sum recovered was $1,500.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, No. 88 Madison street, Twelfth Building, was at 8 a.m., 69 degrees; 10 a.m., 72; 12 m., 75; 3 p.m., 74; 6 p.m., 69; 9 p.m., 68.

A derrick fell across the street in front of Von Glahn's building, in consequence of the explosion of a gunpowder wagon on Clark street, last evening, and several pedestrians had a narrow escape in the fact that the explosion did not injure but hurt the driver of the horse when it found.

Henry Hayes, driver of a Milwaukee avenue stage, attempted to whip some boys off the rear of his vehicle, and fell from the top of it. The wheel passed over his body, and he immediately died. He was removed to his home, at the end of the route.

The friends of W. P. Prentiss, late general bookkeeper of the Stock-Yard and Transit Company, last evening "swooped down" upon him at his residence, and carried him off to a room in his possession as an elegant parlor set, intended as a token of esteem.

The body of Henry Kennedy, the missing stage driver of the Lumbermen's Line, was found in Burlington ship, and an inquest held. He was drunk when he left his home, and had sold his horses to walk off into the river, three weeks ago. A verdict of accidental drowning was returned.

DECORATION DAY.

The G. A. R. Committee on Decoration Day met last evening at the hall of Racine Post, at the corner of LaSalle and Adams streets. Gen. J. S. Reynolds occupied the chair, and Capt. John C. Conroy presided as secretary.

By mutual consent it was agreed that there should be no parade, nor any extensive show of any kind. The Program Committee, however, prepared a program, 500 copies of the G. A. R. memorial service for distribution at the different cemeteries, and Elder Mullin, of the Central Committee, reported he had engaged Mr. C. W. Hill, member of Congress from Arkansas, as speaker at Calvary Cemetery. The Decoration Committee were instructed to take immediate charge of the evergreen decorations at the G. A. R. Headquarters when needed.

The Chairman made the following assignment of posts:

Race Hall—Thomas and Sherman Posts.

Columbia—Racine Post.

Calvary—White Plains.

A temporary Chairman was then elected for each of the Committees, and they were empowered to make any additional arrangements for the entertainment of visitors at their respective meetings.

After determining to call a mass-meeting for Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the same hall, the meeting adjourned.

THE CONTEMPT CASE.

ANSWERING THOSE INTERROGATORIES.

The contemptuous Aldermen and their legal quadrilateral met yesterday afternoon in the committee-room of the City Clerk's office, in secret session as usual. As is usual on all such occasions, THE TRIBUNE reporter spurned and obtained the following account of their proceedings. The contemptuous Aldermen, their legal quadrilateral, at Mayor Cogan, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Adams, who has drafted most of the answers to the interrogatories filed by the Citizens' Association in the matter of the contempt. These answers formed the topic of yesterday's conversation.

The first few interrogatories are unimportant, and can but be answered in the affirmative.

The answer to the seventh interrogatory is found in Wednesday evening's Council proceedings, when the Mayor and Corporation Counsel recommended to Ald. Hildreth, Foley, and Lengacher, that the Mayor and Corporation Counsel be empowered to employ additional legal assistance.

Answer to the eighth interrogatory, no.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth interrogatories are answered by the Council proceedings relating to the motion and vote of castration of the vote and declaring the election.

The sixteenth interrogatory, relative to attacks on the Citizens' Association, and the thirteenth under the advice of their counsel, he declines to answer unless the Court compels him to. The question, he avers, is impertinent and irrelevant, and the action of an Alderman, or of the Corporation Counsel, cannot be attacked outside of that body.

The seventeenth and eighteenth interrogatories are answered in a similar style by Ald. Campbell, and Ald. Hildreth.

The nineteenth interrogatory, which is the one referring more particularly to the legal quadrilateral, is answered under protest. They claim that they did not advise the Council to declare a vote, but only advised the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-first interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-second interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-third interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-fourth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-fifth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-sixth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-seventh interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-eighth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The twenty-ninth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-first interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-second interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-third interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-fourth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-fifth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-sixth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-seventh interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-eighth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen. The legal quadrilateral argue that, inasmuch as they were employed to represent the Corporation Counsel they were in favor of the honest opinions in the case so far as the law was concerned. The Aldermen also allege that no one but the opinion of the law could stand until it was pronounced by the Common Council.

The answer to the ninth, tenth, and eleventh interrogatories are found in the legal opinion given to the Common Council by their legal adviser.

The thirty-ninth interrogatory is answered by the association that all were properly served with copies of the documents.

The interrogatory directed to City-Clerk Foreign in regard to spreading the vote on the record is answered affirmatively.

In the course of yesterday's assembly the above answers were read before the assembly by Frank Adams, and the corresponding questions were read by Ald. Woodman. Some of them were very forcible, and all the answers they received in the matter were from these gentlemen.